10-15% Market Correction Next? (Video)

In this week's episode of Rise UP!, host Terri Kallsen welcomed Grimes & Company's Kevin Grimes and Emily Wood for a conversation that touched on several storylines that are currently making headlines. First, they discussed whether there could be a 10-15% market correction on the horizon, with Kevin also positing that a 50 bps cut by the Fed in September could be very likely. They then reviewed President Trump's latest moves around targeting banks and how his tariff policies may be leading to a comeback in American manufacturing. And in a bit of breaking news, they also covered the new executive order allowing alternative investments to be included in your 401(k) plans.
