Maggie Theall is a Marketing Coordinator at Grimes & Company, where she supports the firm’s marketing initiatives and helps bring the brand to life through thoughtful design and communication. In her role, she works across projects that strengthen the firm’s visual identity and connect with clients in meaningful ways. Maggie especially appreciates the welcoming community at Grimes and the spirit of collaboration that makes teamwork both productive and enjoyable.

Maggie graduated from Quinnipiac University with a major in Graphic & Interactive Design and a minor in Marketing. Following graduation, she worked with a behavioral healthcare nonprofit, where she focused on developing a meaningful and cohesive brand identity that reflected the organization’s mission. Her experience blending design and marketing continues to shape her approach to creating thoughtful and impactful communications.

Outside of work, Maggie enjoys spending time with her cat and pursuing creative interests like drawing. She also loves skiing and traveling whenever she can, often planning trips to visit art museums around the world.
